

In Early Years we want every child to be the most effective learner they can be, and most importantly we want the children to know how! We have transformed 6 Characteristics of Effective Learning in the Early Years, into dinosaurs...

Tryceratops

I believe that if I keep trying it will pay off.
I am able to bounce back after difficulties.
I never give up, even when it's hard.

Pretendactyl

I like acting out my experiences with others.
I can take on a role when I play.
I can pretend objects are something else.

Solvosaurus Rex

I find ways to solve problems.
I think of ideas.
I can review how well I'm doing.
I can change my strategy when needed.
I can make a plan.

Pridosaur

I am pleased when I meet my goals.
I am proud of how I accomplished something.
I enjoy meeting challenges.

Explorosaurus

I use my senses to explore.
I am curious about people, events and objects.
I can initiate and engage in activities.
I seek out challenges.

Predictor

I can make predictions.
I am able to test my ideas.
I notice links and patterns.
I can develop ideas of grouping,
